President's Message

We had a good meeting this week with a couple of drug pushers... uh, salesmen... giving us the spill on why drug prices are so high, what drug companies spend on research and development, and other interesting things. (I had to get the drug pusher job in because they made an anti-trial lawyer comment) (ha ha!) Thanks to Scott for letting us in on a little bit of the reason our drugs are so expensive these days.

Don't forget about our annual Christmas Party which, thanks to the hard work of former President Reggie Belcher, will take place on Monday, Dec. 13th at 6:30pm at Chestnut Hills Plantation. We will have a map available for those that do not know how to get there.

We don't have a meeting this next week, and that our next meeting will be on Dec. 6th. I look forward to seeing you then!

Membership Dinner January 31

We need names of three good prospects from every member in time for mailing of invitations by early January. Last year's effort was quite successful under Dan Felker's leadership and again we need and expect your help by personally inviting and encouraging your prospects to attend. Please see the Membership Sociogram attachment. This is a tool to help define good prospects. Though this form is provided by Sertoma International, it's still possibly helpful.

Coaches Corner: Final 2004 Edition

Coach Belcher skipped town, the final USC insult! Todd Lewis exclaimed that "at 29 to 7, the Tigers stuck it to us again! Our offense wasn't awful, it was God-awful, broken up by 10 minutes of chaos. We don't deserve the Independence Bowl."

Coach Sutker said he thought the ACC officials were the worst, but the SEC officials win the prize. By letting both teams slide with late hits, it precipitated the 4th quarter fight. "In the 60's I was told CU should fear Paul Dietzel. In the 70's, Jim Carlen, 80's Joe Morrison, 90's Lou Holtz. USC pays top dollar for big-name coaches. Bring 'em on!

Membership Directory: New members please get with me after our meetings to have your picture taken for the Directory. We will update and get the new pages to our members. Also remember that member information is available on the website: Columbiasertoma.org.
